ATTACHMENT - STATEMENT OF REASONS

Health Insurance Act 1973
Class Order under subsection 6(1)

ORDER NO: 797
DATE OF ORDER: 2017
RELATED ORDER: 517, 365, 212, 762, 781
NAME OF PERSON/GROUP: Australian citizens absent from Australia up to five years

REASON FOR APPROVAL:

Australian citizens absent overseas retain their Medicare entitlements on return visits to Australia for a period of up to five years from when they were last resident in Australia for Medicare purposes.

This policy addresses difficulties, for both the patient and Medicare, in proving residence upon return to Australia within a reasonable grace period. Where an absence exceeds five years, Australian citizens must provide proof of their resident status to regain their entitlements to Medicare. Each case is considered on its merits.

In 1992, concerns were raised in the Senate about missionaries being refused Medicare on their return from overseas, as they were unable to produce documentary evidence that they resided in Australia.

The Department undertook a review of Medicare eligibility in these circumstances, that is, for citizens absent from Australia for some years who could not provide evidence of residence in Australia to satisfy the Health Insurance Act. It affected mainly missionaries, but also those working overseas and on diplomatic postings.

The matter was addressed by an order under subsection 6(1), enabling an Australian citizen to remain eligible for Medicare on return visits to Australia within five years from the date of last departure as a permanent resident.
